"TYPHOON" FIRE DEADLIEST BLOW TO GERMAN FORCES

Secretary Baker in His Weekly Review Shows How Allies Are Winning.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—French successes in Flanders, broadening the great wedge which the allies are relentlessly driving into the German line, are described as the outstanding feature of the week in the review of military operations for the week ending Oct. 13, issued to-day by the War Department.

"The allied offensive in Flanders continues methodically," says the review. "Assigned objectives attained with increasing regularity indicate efficient co-ordination of artillery preparation and infantry attacks."

"The precision of the allied barrage is proved by the low casualties of the assaulting columns."

"The deadly effect of allied artillery fire is confirmed to us by reports reaching us regarding the concern of the German High Command at the new allied 'typhoon' fire, which is compelling the enemy to amend his tactical dispositions in an effort to meet the shock of the shell rained upon his lines."

"The successes attained by the French forces operating north of the British sector, more particularly in the neighborhood of the Houthulst Wood, have given the allied advance in Flanders the needed elbow room."

"Breadth of front is an essential condition for operations which are to have far-reaching results, for, confined to a too narrow base, a really important encircling movement can have no sustained value if along its entire length it can be flanked by artillery fire."

"The zone of operations in the Ypres salient, formerly too narrow for the proper disposition of large masses of troops, has now, by the French operation and their recent successful advance, so extended the line that fighting in what was the Ypres salient has changed in character. It is no longer to be considered a salient, but an over-extending wedge progressively driven into the German lines.

"The operations of the French during the past week are in fact complementary to the engagements which resulted in the capture of Messines by the British last June."

"During the engagements of the week the French everywhere maintained the positions won in the face of repeated onslaughts. "As was to be expected at this season, bad weather has somewhat retarded the allied advance. Operations were hampered owing to the fact that the well drained ground of the Passchendaele ridge once passed over, the advancing columns are confronted with the waterlogged, soggy Flanders plain which stretches on to Roulers and beyond."

"The Germans, fearing lest the allied advance in Flanders would be followed by a similar effort along other sectors of the front, particularly north of Verdun, endeavored to thwart allied plans by launching a powerful attack preceded by the usual intensive artillery preparation in this sector."

"The enemy was able to gain a temporary foothold in certain advanced French lines. Latest advances show that he was driven out after some hot fighting."

The review touches briefly upon the situation on other fronts. No mention is made of American forces or war preparations.

HEALTH CONSERVATION URGED AS WAR MEASURE

England's Experience in Decreased Production Due to Fatigue, Stale-ness and Sickness Cited.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Conservation of the health of industrial workers as a means to obtaining increased efficiency for war-time production was discussed at a sectional meeting here to-day on industrial hygiene of the American Public Health Association.

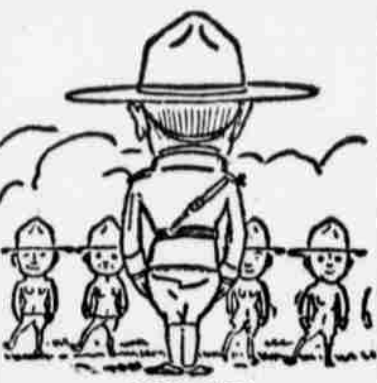

Dr. Emory H. Hayhurst spoke of the need for a general system of sanitary supervision and cited England's experience in decreased production, due to fatigue, staleness and sickness among her workers as a reason why such a system should be put into operation in this country.

The speaker declared that the most energetic sanitary measures are necessary because of the already serious shortage of manpower, which is most acute, he said, not at the battle front, but in the home industries.
